More details about the Happy? OK? Sad? materials are below

The Happy? OK? Sad? promotional materials all signpost people to www.happyoksad.org.uk, Warrington's mental health awareness site.

The Happy? OK? Sad? leaflet for children and young people and the leaflet for adults both list the areas of information that can be found on the site and explain what to do if someone can't cope and needs urgent help. The leaflets are 21cm high x 10cm wide.

The Happy? OK? Sad? older people's booklet includes details of a range of local services, which can help older people avoid isolation and maintain their mental health and wellbeing. There's also information about local services that can support older people who have mental health problems and an explanation of how people can get support if they can't cope and need urgent help. The booklet has large, easy to read text (14 point), is A5 size and has eight pages.

The Happy? OK? Sad? flyer has a QR code, so people can visit the website just by scanning it with their phone. The flyer is A6 size and is double sided.

All three Happy? OK? Sad? posters are A3 size. For those who don't use the internet the older people's poster includes the phone number for LifeTime, the local network for people over 50. The children and young people's poster and the adult's poster each have a QR code, so people can visit the website just by scanning with their phone.

The Happy? OK? Sad? bookmark is approximately 6cm x 21cm and is double sided.
